16. REPORT OF THE CITY ATTORNEY

Sidney Calloway, City Attorney, spoke about a ballot question placed on the electorate ballot prior to the November election by Broward County. The ballot question was designed to give the County the authority to preempt local zoning regulations as it relates to certain types of development within municipal jurisdictions. Mr. Calloway advised that the judge allowed the ballot question to go forward and it passed through the election. However, the cities, because of home rule, felt it appropriate having the judges order reviewed by the appellate court. This matter is before the 4th District Court of Appeals (DCA) and the County has to file its brief to support their claim by May 13, 2021. The cities will have a short reply to file against the county's position and it is expected that the 4th DCA will render an opinion.

In regard to Championship Academy and Charter School, Mr. Calloway advised that there has been positive communication with regard to the repainting of the building and that he is working with the charter school's attorney dedication of the right-of-way improvements to the city.

Mayor Rogers asked for a report of the discussion with the Supervisor of Elections who attended the workshop on April 26th.

City Clerk, Venice Howard, advised that there has been a substantial increase of approximately 380% in election costs for those cities having elections in November. She advised that the Supervisor of Elections (SOEs) argument is that the cities having elections in November should be on par with those having elections in March or more costly as November elections adds an additional level of complexity. Estimates were received but with no data for cities to see what they are being charged. The Broward County Municipal Clerk's Association has asked the SOE for an analysis and detailed ledger of all costs.
